PREFACE

The many words of hearty commendation of the former issue of the Alumni Catalogue prompt us to the belief that as such the Alumni Catalogue should be continued as a separate issue. As the last of our series of Bulletins for the present college year we present this number without apologies. There may be errors and mistatements but they are due to lack of information and failure on the part of those addressed to answer requests.

We believe the information in the present edition is reasonably correct. A very large percentage of the graduates returned the cards promptly. It may be said of some classes that every living member was heard from. Where errors occur it is due to the fact that no response was received even after repeated efforts. We cannot keep in touch with you if you do not keep us informed of change of address. With our rapidly increasing numbers this task becomes greater each year and we beg your assistance.

We regret that our list of "unknown" has grown so large. Every means known or suggested to us has been tried to locate these persons but without success. Some who could not be located when the last Alumni Catalogue was published (May, 1908) have been reached by correspondence, and others whose addresses we thought we knew are not to be found. If you can aid us in locating any of those whose names appear in the list of "address unknown," kindly advise us of the fact.

Article III. of the Constitution of the Central Alumni Association says:—"Any person graduated by the University, or any person honorably dismissed after having passed in regular course through the Junior year in said University, shall be entitled to membership in this Association and shall become a member by subscribing to this constitution."

By this we understand that every student who regularly passed through the Junior year may become a member of the Central Alumni Association with all its rights and privileges. We are endeavoring to make a complete list of these, and hereafter they will be placed on the Alumni mailing list and receive all literature of interest to the Alumni. Graduates of the Musical Department, Post-Graduate Department, and Bible and Missionary Training School are members of this Association.

We are also endeavoring to establish closer relations with those who left before the end of Junior year. Many such have a deep love for the institution and are devoted to her interests. Graduates who receive this Bulletin may know of some "old student" who would be interested in receiving the various numbers of the Bulletin sent out each month of the college year. We will be glad to receive the names of all such persons.

It is a source of disappointment that we are not able to present the historical sketch of the growth and progress of the University from the pen of Professor Notestein, as promised in our announcement. With his duties as teacher and some unexpected developments,—or rather non-developments,—in receiving promised articles for the Quarterly, we could not conscientiously add to his already heavy responsibilities. At a late hour we asked Richard Douglas, '10, to undertake this task, and it is with pleasure we present his interesting sketch. We hereby acknowledge our indebtedness for his courteous and prompt compliance.

We call attention to the fact that where classes are organized the Secretary is mentioned as such; also to the classification of the Alumni according to states and cities, and to the table of statistics on the last page. We believe all of these will be of general interest.

We again appeal to you to keep the Registrar informed of changes of address, changes of name by marriage, obituary notices, honorary degrees, and any other information that properly finds a place in the Alumni Catalogue. It is hoped that this number of the Bulletin may serve as a stimulus to those who are out of touch with the institution and their respective classes and bring all into closer relations.

HISTORICAL STATEMENT

The University of Wooster may be said to owe its origin to the growth of an idea. This idea arose from the fact that the church had made a beginning in performing her duty for the evangelization of the race; it had for its purpose the establishment of an institution founded on lines of the broadest scholarship and fitted to prepare men and women for the duties of life. Such was the idea long cherished by the church and now ready for practical execution. The activity of the church along other lines had gradually evolved a desire for an educational institution under denominational auspices.

Accordingly the Synod of Ohio took action on the matter and as early as 1847 a committee was appointed to make due report "on the whole subject of education embracing particularly the topic of a Synodical College." In 1848 the committee made its first report and was continued, having been instructed to confer with a similar committee of the Synod of Cincinnati. It was further authorized to receive subscriptions and entertain propositions for establishing a denominational college. After a conference had been held, the committee from the Synod of Ohio reported that, as the Synod of Cincinnati seemed disinclined to unite in the project, it was thought inexpedient to engage in the enterprise.

But the idea of founding a Presbyterian college was not abandoned. In 1852 the Synod of Ohio again appointed a committee to consider the expediency of endeavoring to establish a Presbyterian college, to be instituted, endowed, and managed by the Synods of Ohio and Cincinnati conjointly. Again, two years later, the matter was deferred, the joint committee reporting that it was inexpedient to engage in such an enterprise. But once more the plan was considered, this time at the suggestion of the Synod of Cincinnati. A joint committee was authorized to devise plans and consider propositions for the location of such an institution.

This announcement was the occasion of considerable rivalry among several towns, each eager to be chosen as a suitable location for the proposed college. Bellefontaine was the first to send a committee to the Synod, and in 1856 committees were also received from Chillicothe and West Liberty. The Synod of Cincinnati decided upon West Liberty as the seat for the college and appointed six trustees. An address to the churches on the subject of Christian education was approved by the Synod and sent out. However, the Synod of Ohio had selected Chillicothe and had also appointed trustees. It was then decided to hold a conference in order to settle the matter. After considerable deliberation West Liberty was chosen as the location for the college. Upon receiving a report from the trustees in 1857, the Synod extended the time for raising the necessary $200,000 to Nov. 1, 1858. But when the specified date arrived, the sum had not been raised and the Synod of Cincinnati having reported that the churches could not agree upon locating the college at West Liberty, withdrew from the enterprise.

However, another joint committee was appointed in 1859 to reconsider the whole matter. In 1860 the committee reported to the Synods approving an offer made by the citizens of Springfield for the location of the college at that place. Both Synods accepted the proposition and authorized the trustees to proceed with the campaign for endowment and scholarships. The Synod of Sandusky, upon being invited to join the enterprise, accepted and co-operated heartily with the other two. But the work was hardly begun before the nation was convulsed with civil strife causing all efforts for endowment to cease.

But the far-reaching results of the war and the uncertainities of reconstruction did not dampen the consecrated ardor of Wooster's founders. In 1865 the three Synods again united their efforts to realize their cherished plan. Then came a proposition from the citizens of Wooster and Wayne County offering $100,000 and twenty-one acres of land for a site donated by E. Quinby, Jr., for the proposed university. The attached condition specified that it be located in Wooster, that the three Synods co-operate in the enterprise, and that they pledge themselves to endow it in the sum of $300,000, including the amount offered by Wayne County. The three Synods at once concurred most heartily. Trustees were then appointed who met November, 1865 and set about obtaining a charter. They also made clear the object of the institution, resolved to establish a Missionary Professorship and a Chair of Biblical Instruction, and invited any and all Synods of the Presbyterian Church in Ohio and adjacent states to unite on terms of equality with the original Synods in the control and management of the University. The campaign for endowment was pushed forward with such success that by Sept. 7, 1870, following the granting of the charter in 1866 and the laying of the cornerstone June 30, 1868, there was on hand property to the value of $150,000 and an endowment fund pledged of over $260,000. The University was formally dedicated Sept. 7, 1870, with impressive ceremonies, in which Dr. Willis Lord made his inaugural address, Rev. John Robinson, President of the Board of Trustees, reviewed the history of the institution, and Senator John Sherman charmed his hearers with his celebrated eloquence. On that September day thirty-four students enrolled in the four classes.

The University now began its career with five professors, besides a well equipped Medical Department located in Cleveland. The dream had been realized. In spite of discouragements and setbacks and the disaster wrought by the great Civil War, there was at last established a Presbyterian University, devoted to the diffusion of learning and culture. Truly the church's great idea had grown and borne fruit. The first class was graduated in 1871 from the Collegiate Department and was composed of six members, five of whom are still living.

Here, then, was a University fully established and ready to receive the youth of the land who sought a higher education. It offered and upheld not only the loftiest intellectual culture but also Christian surroundings and ennobling influences, without which no institution of learning may be said to be complete. The outlook was indeed auspicious and the Presbyterian Church could well look with pardonable pride upon Wooster's advent into the realm of higher learning. Since that memorable day of dedication, now dim with the mist of years, there have been times of rejoicing and thanksgiving upon the Old Hill; but none are more worthy of memory than that great day forty years ago, when Wooster was dedicated to "Christ and Letters."

Under the able leadership of President Lord the University prospered in a most gratifying manner. In 1872 the Preparatory Department was opened with an efficient corps of teachers. Although Dr. Lord's presidency lasted only three years, he left a deep impression upon the policies of the institution and impressed those about him with his sagacity and foresight. Dr. Lord's memory will be cherished and loved as long as students shall come and go upon the campus.

Upon the resignation of Dr. Lord, Dr. A. A. E. Taylor was chosen to fill the vacancy, and again the Trustees were fortunate in their choice. During the decade in which he held the reins of government he showed himself to be a man full of enthusiasm and zeal for the advancement of the institution he so dearly loved. In 1877 the Observatory was built, followed by the opening of the Graduate Department in 1881, the addition of the Conservatory of Music in 1882, and the erection of the Gymnasium in 1883. Dr. Taylor had the satisfaction of seeing Wooster advance steadily in all departments during his term of office; he faced the perplexities of Wooster's early history unflinchingly and won a name for himself as a skillful and resourceful president.

And now once more the Board of Trustees was called upon to consider the serious matter of selecting a president. The Board realized that the man of their choice would have to be resourceful, enthusiastic, and specially gifted for the great task before him. Accordingly the Board selected that scholarly Christian gentleman, Dr. Sylvester F. Scovel, a man renowned for his learning and culture. Throughout his entire administration Dr. Scovel displayed untiring zeal for Wooster's improvement. He procured enlarged quarters for the science department, and so managed the finances that the University weathered one of the severest financial panics. In 1884 a Music Hall was built and in 1895 the Summer School was opened, followed by the erection of Hoover Cottage and the establishment of the School of Art.

After the resignation of Dr. Scovel, the Trustees on July 24, 1899, elected to the presidency Louis Edward Holden, a graduate of Beloit College in the class of 1888, and of Princeton Theological Seminary in the class of 1891, and a member of the Faculty of Beloit College for eight years. On November 3, 1899, in the presence of a vast audience of alumni, students, trustees, and friends of the University, Dr. Holden was inaugurated. Addresses were made by representatives of the Trustees, Faculty, students, Synod, Ohio colleges, and the citizens of Wooster. The induction of the President was conducted by Dr. S. F. Scovel, and the oath of office was administered by ex-President Taylor. Dr. Holden outlined his policy, paying high tribute to the work already accomplished by his predecessors and promising to devote his best efforts to the advancement and upbuilding of Wooster, a promise which he has well fulfilled.

President Holden entered upon the duties of his office with that vigor and untiring energy which have characterized his entire administration. From the outset he inspired those about him through his intense zeal and his devotion to duty. If the Trustees had been permitted to look into the future and see the great crisis through which Wooster was ere long to pass, they could have made no wiser choice.

In 1899 the Trustees, finding a defect in the original charter, applied for a new one under the Sections 3751*b* and 3751*c* of the Revised Statutes of Ohio. At the annual meeting of the Board held June 11, 1901, the Trustees voted to accept the new charter and to tender to the Synod of Ohio the control and ownership of the institution. The Synod at the annual fall meeting in October of the same year accepted the ownership.

And now we come to a chapter in Wooster's history at once the brightest and the darkest. On December 11, 1901, the entire main building, containing valuable equipment and apparatus, was completely destroyed by fire. To some the sight of the smoldering ruins meant the loss of years of consecrated labor. But with what wonderful and devoted zeal did the friends and alumni of Wooster rally to her side in her hour of direst need! Led by Dr. Holden with his untiring energy, trustees, faculty, alumni, students, and townspeople threw themselves into the campaign for rebuilding funds. President Holden by his able leadership thoroughly systematized the work and willing helpers were not lacking to aid him. The citizens of Wooster and Wayne County, the churches of Ohio and adjacent states, to say nothing of devoted professors, trustees and alumni, came to the front and gave liberally. Never did the friends of Wooster show their loyalty and devotion to better purpose.

And so, the ruins were scarcely cleared away until stately buildings crowned the glorious Hill and the new Wooster arose from the ashes of the old. During the year following the fire Kauke Hall, Severance Hall, Scovel Hall, Taylor Hall, and the Power Plant were erected, and in 1907 arose the magnificent dormitory named in honor of President Holden. The Memorial Chapel was completed in 1902, and the University Library in 1906. The campaign for the million dollar endowment instituted in 1903 has been pursued with marked success. The assets of the University now amount to $1,857,-249.83 of which $985,279.63 is endowment as against assets of $452,551.87 and an endowment of $181,737.42 ten years ago.

Beside the eight excellent new buildings mentioned above there have been added to the University the residence occupied by the President and the three Homes for the use of missionaries on furlough. The Conservatory of Music now occupies commodious quarters. A first-class water plant and system of fire protection for University have been completed. The Campus was several years ago increased from twenty to forty acres, and recently some very fine property has been donated by our loyal friend and supporter, Mr. L. H.

Severance, so that the Campus at present includes sixty-three acres. Now the General Education Board has agreed to appropriate $150,000 on condition that a total of $600,000 be subscribed by Jan. 1, 1911. A friend has offered to duplicate the sum offered by the Board and other donations leave only $206,000.00 yet to be raised. Already plans for a new Gymnasium and a men's dormitory are under consideration.

So, looking back over the years, we have seen an idea grow and bear fruit until today the new Wooster is our pride and joy. We behold an institution "founded on lines of the broadest scholarship" fitted to prepare men and women for the duties and responsibilities of life. Wooster's graduates may be found in every field of honorable occupation; almost seventeen hundred have gone out from the dear old Hill and have carried the Wooster spirit everywhere. As long as time shall last, as long as men and women shall seek and find the highest things of life, Wooster shall stand secure, inspiring hope and trust and bearing ever aloft the great motto, "Pro Christo et Literis."
